1. National Center for Jewish Healing
   http://www.ncjh.org/tools.html
   The page includes examples of Jewish spiritual resources. Some stem from the classic corpus of Judaism, others from folkways and still others are currently being developed in Jewish communities world-wide.

2. Hillel.org Holiday Resource Page
   http://www.hillel.org/jewish/holidays/default
   Hillel has a collection of programming resources and text studies for all the major Jewish holidays.

3. Babaganewz.com (Teacher and Student materials)
   http://www.babaganewz.com/holidays/Flashindex.cfm (Student site) BabagaNewz is a full-color monthly classroom magazine for grades 4-7. The teacher section for holidays has links to full lesson plans and activities; the student site has a variety of online games and activities.

4. Keshercollge.org
   http://keshercollge.org/resources/holidays/
   Resources are available for those not yet in college, current college students, campus professionals, and congregational leaders, and range from printed publications to web links to materials that can be downloaded. KESHER, Hebrew for "connection," is the campus program of the Union for Reform Judaism.

5. MyJewishLearning.com Holidays
   http://www.myjewishlearning.com/holidays/AboutJewishHolidays.htm MyJewishLearning.com is a trans-denominational website of Jewish information and education geared toward learners of all ages and educational backgrounds. This link leads to materials on all of the Jewish Holidays.

6. Rac.Org – Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism
   Three social justice themes are highlighted: Hunger, Environment and the Judicial System. Activities around these themes for individuals and families as well as program ideas for congregations, youth groups and religious schools are featured.

Compiled by Lynn D. Flanzbaum, Tartak Learning Center Director, 2008